A Grand Prix to forget for the DeGraaf Grand Prix Team

The 79° Alice TT Assen was one of the Grand Prix' to forget. Both DeGraaf Grand Prix riders did not finished the race. British rider Danny Webb was taken out by another rider in the first lap and Swiss rider Randy Krummenacher crashed in the second lap.

The warm-up session was a bad one for Danny Webb. Sergio Gadea took Webb out in the out lap and the bike was too much damaged to ride the session. Randy Krummenacher had a good pace in this session but finished on a 14th position.

The race was short for DeGraaf Grand Prix rider Danny Webb. In the first lap Webb was t-boned by another rider and injured his left foot. Randy Krummenacher had a reasonable start and tried to connect to the second group. In the second lap Krummenacher pushed a bit too hard and crashed also. The home race for the DeGraaf Grand Prix Team was ended soon.

Danny Webb (DNF): "Today is a day to forget. In the morning session I was hit by another rider in the first lap out of the pit lane. Because of this crash I couldn't ride the warm up session. In the race I got off a good start but lost nearly the front in the first turn. In the Strubben my team mate Randy passed me and than Beaubier hit me from behind and the race was over. I'm really sad for the team's home race especially because Randy and I didn't finish the race. I hope the next race in Germany will be better than this."

Randy Krummenacher (DNF): "I had an ok start. I tried to connect to the second group and I was nearly there. Unfortunately I pushed to hard and crashed. This is very disappointment for me and the team because I wanted the give the team a good result for them home race. Next time in Germany I will try to get a top result."
